The Admissions Committee considers it a privilege to read your essay(s). In evaluating essays, the Committee considers the following:

1. Does the applicant demonstrate college-level written communication skills? Particular attention is given to mechanics (grammar, punctuation, and spelling), the logical organization of material, analysis of issues, support of issues and positions, and clarity of thought.
2. Does the applicant show an ability to critically think through a decision-making experience?
3. Does the Regis University Master's program appear to meet the goals and expectations of the applicant?
4. Do the applicant's answers to specific program questions indicate that the program is a good fit for the applicant?
